President's Report

John De Lucia

The cold weather is well and truly upon us as can be seen by the drop in numbers attending the club on Wednesday night and Sunday morning.

Once again, can members PLEASE observe the 5km speed limit into the grounds starting from West Beach Road. I am sure that nobody wants to be responsible for any near misses or worse.

I am very pleased to report that the club has entered into a sponsorship arrangement with Noahs Crossing Veterinary Clinic. The clinic is located on Hayman Road, Lewiston and any member that is thinking of attending this vet for their pets needs are urged to get a key tag first which is available from the Shepherd Shop. By using this key tag, the club will receive a percentage back and you will receive a special rate when you visit the clinic. More information regarding this can be found in this edition of the Shepherd News.

There is a list of calendar dates printed in the Shepherd News which I encourage you to take note of and make a note in your diary of special events that you do not want to miss. It is your responsibility to remember dates of events and meetings and not that of the club.

Our Balmead Shied Trial will be held on Sunday 11 August. Any member wishing to help out, whether in the canteen, stewarding, setting up/packing away etc is encouraged to speak with either Ian Cooke, Jeff Hartshorne or myself. Your help and assistance would be greatly appreciated.

The club was saddened by the recent passing of two of our long serving members, Marie Hartshorne and Rae West. Marie will be well remembered by members as the lady who sat under the veranda watching husband and instructor, Jeff, training their dogs. Rae was a long standing life member of our club who helped the club and husband, Doug for several years. On behalf of all members, I extend our condolences to Jeff Hartshorne and Doug West and their families.

From the Second Vice President Breed Affairs

Salvatore Pittelli

Congratulations to all winners that competed in our last two Championship shows. The judges Jan Braham and Rod Vernon were very well received by all competitors.

Recently, in the media there is an article on responsible management of cats & dogs. They are focusing their investigating to ensure all owners are providing proper identification and vaccination of their pets. Therefore I would like to stress to all of our members the importance of making sure that all of our breeders around our state register their dog through a National Microchip Database. I cannot stress the importance of this in the event the dog goes missing, the owners/owners can be contacted.

I am aware we have had a number of people (new owners and vets) expressing concern where they have discovered that although chipped, some puppies are not being registered on a recognised database. It is a reasonable expectation of a person buying a microchipped pet that the point of the chip is to identify and reunite their pet with them if it is lost or gets out. A breeder, losing a dog at an interstate show would hope the same thing!

Dogs SA are not responsible for reuniting lost dogs, as they have neither the resources nor the 24 hours access that the databases do. Their function is to put the microchip on a pedigree for ANKC record keeping only.

When tattooing was introduced, the GSDCA and member clubs like ours were leading the way in ensuring our dogs were traceable and remained our responsibility. As the technology has changed, unlike our interstate sister clubs, where legislation ensures any chipped puppy is registered to a national 24hr 7 day a week database, we in SA have not kept up with the systems in place to ensure this continues. We have an ongoing responsibility to our animals and their owners to ensure this takes place.

We should bear in mind that breeders who are not having club officers chip their puppies are going to vets who are ensuring under their own codes of conduct that puppies are being registered on a national database. Potentially this could be seen as a disadvantage to those breeders not registering the puppies.

You may not be aware that SA and NT are now the only states which do not have specific micro chipping laws covering this issue.

Let's never forget that a microchip's fundamental purpose is to positively identify and to reunite animals with their owners, not just to tick a box on an ANKC pedigree.

Our standards of breed welfare have always been the very best, however on this issue; it could be perceived that we are falling behind. There is no doubting that it is a breeder's responsibility to ensure their puppies are given the best chances of being returned to breeder or owner if lost or abandoned, and to minimize the chance of euthanasia due to lack of identification.

Some SA breeders already use a prepaid form and get the puppy buyers to fill it out at the point of sale, as well as listing themselves as back up contacts, thereby doubling the chance of getting the dog home safe. Once all puppies are sold they post the prepaid forms to the database, ensuring they are recorded nationally. The new owner is forwarded a certificate, proving their puppy is registered on the database. The cost of these forms can be as low as $7-8 each.

Did you know that anyone finding a chipped animal can check the www.petaddress.com.au website to see which database the animal is registered to? Once they contact the database, it becomes the database company's responsibility to reunite owner and pet.

Please refer to this RSPCA article for more detail: <http://kb.rspca.org.au/Why-is-it-important-to-ensure-my-pet-is-microchipped-500.html>

Tributes to club member we have recently lost. Our thoughts are with their families and friends.

Brad Armstong

After a courageous fight, Brad Armstrong lost his battle with cancer on 21 June 2013. He was only 41 years old.

Brad was a member of the Club and the very proud owner of Ch Leppsdorf Loui Armstrong, the Bronze Medal winning dog at the Queensland National Show. Loui was Brad's pet and he said a wonderful companion and support, particularly during his long illness.

Our thoughts and best wishes go to his wife, Judy, the boys Dale and Joshua, and the beautiful little girls, Tessa and Tylah. Such a lovely family – just so very sad.

Marie Hartshorne

Marie Hartshorne will always be remembered for her tireless support of Jeff – both around the trials and sitting under the veranda at the club.

Marie loved to watch Jeff train the dogs and she formed many a friendship with other members who would also sit under the veranda and talk 'dogs'.

Marie also had helped in the canteen by way of serving at club functions and helping out on training days. Her help was indeed appreciated.

Our deepest condolences to, Jeff and the dogs - who will especially miss, Marie.

Beautrae Kennels was very successful, and Rae never wanted to go on holidays because of all the animals she accumulated, but was at a dog show every week, both locally and interstate, Rae was known for her familiar cough from outside the ring whenever one of her beloved Shepherds was exhibited to get their ears up, and this was probably the beginning of double handling!

Rae passed peacefully with both her Daughter Kelley & her husband Doug at her side on the 4th of involved using a TENS machine (Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulation) to release the tension within a point, following by stretching the affected muscle group. Other ways to treat trigger points include acupuncture therapy and massage.

Acupuncture therapy

Acupuncture mainly works in two ways to control pain and treat muscle injuries. Acupuncture can manipulate blood flow towards or away from muscle. When an injury has just occurred, we want less blood flow towards the muscle to reduce the inflammatory response. When it is an older injury, we want more blood flow towards the muscles to bring in nutrients to aid healing. As discussed earlier, acupuncture can also be used to treat trigger points.

Home Management:

Resting

Each individual should have sufficient resting period in between working. Resting allows the body system to repair muscle damage, to metabolise toxins built up from overloaded working (lactic acids), and in particular to avoid repeated trauma to injured muscles that are still undergoing their healing process.

Heat and cold therapy

Straight after an injury, cold therapy (ice pack) should be applied on injured muscle, this restricts blood flow to the affected area and reduces the inflammatory response and swelling. In contrast, heat therapy (hot water bottle/wheat bag) should be used in chronic cases to promote healing by bringing blood flow to injured muscles.

Massage

Gentle massage along with heat therapy on muscles aids blood circulation and partially releases tension within a trigger point. Owners can seek advice from a Veterinary Physiotherapist or Chiropractor on some simple ways to massage their animals at home. In addition to reducing pain from releasing muscle tension, massage can also promote better performance.

Pain management in large breed dogs with muscle injuries from working

It is common for large breed dogs to have some degree of musculoskeletal issues from working. Major injuries include dogs that have had a fall, are traumatised or appeared lame after working. Minor injuries can occur from repeated forceful muscle contractions and twisting from running, fast turning and jumping, which does not cause a problem at the beginning, but cumulatively results in chronic muscle pain and reduce in flexibility in older age. In this article, we will discuss different aspects of pain management in working dogs experiencing muscle injuries.

Medical Therapy:

Owner should seek medical advice as soon as possible after any suspected muscle injuries. Dogs that experience acute muscle injury will require anti-inflammatory drugs to reduce swelling and pain. In severe cases, one may see muscle spasm post injury or haematoma formation. Chronic pain from previous injuries or exhausted muscle that did not have enough of a rest period will benefit from pain relief medication. However, the cause of chronic pain needs to be addressed; otherwise the medication will only be of temporary relief.

Alternative Therapy:

Trigger point therapy

Trigger point is a bundle of contracted muscle forming a knot, it is irritable and painful on compression. Trigger point usually forms from an insult or when there is a lack of muscle stretching. Hence working dogs are quite prone to have early trigger point development due to muscle damaged from lots of running and jumping. Once a trigger point is formed, it remains contracted until treatment is performed. These trigger points can start to develop as a puppy and increases in number as the dog gets older. There are 2 types of trigger points; active and latent points. Active trigger points are points painful enough to cause a problem affecting routine daily life. For example, lameness. Latent points are more common and exhibit as underlying chronic pain; many dogs with chronic pain where diagnostic tests cannot find any underlying cause will have trigger points. Trigger point therapy in-
