President's Report

The club has had a full calendar of events in recent times.

The May Obedience Trial was held on 28 May with a modest entry but had some very good results for our club members who participated in the trial. Well done to those members.

Our club rooms were utilised by the West Torrens Council for a seminar on "Strategies for dealing with unfamiliar dogs" – an overview of safe dog handling and presented by, Mr. Andrew Clark. The club was given the opportunity to send two of our Obedience Instructors to the seminar and Robert and Natalie were fortunate enough to attend and were given very valuable tips which can be used by all of our trainers.

The Dogs SA Winter International was held from 1st – 4th June with the German Shepherd as the feature breed, judged under specialist conditions and judged by FCI judge, Mr. Mukul Vaid from India. The entry was excellent and the show well received by all.

Our dual Championships shows, The Roy Brabham Memorial and Neddermeyer Memorial, were held on 10 & 11 June with an entry of over 100 on both days. Our Judges were, Mr. Mike Bradley (NZ) and Mr. Greg Green (Vic). The shows attracted a good entry from interstate which was very pleasing and a great weekend was had by all. The Canteen was kept busy and a BIG thanks must go to our volunteers who did an amazing job. An especial shout out to, Brian Parker – President of DOGS SA, for his help with cooking over both days and also to Margaret Bush who assisted behind the counter. Thank you to ALL. Our canteen manager, Michelle has much enthusiasm in her role and always ensures a fantastic menu in addition to generating much needed revenue for the club.

The club is holding a Quiz Night on Saturday 22 July with our own, Wayne O'Loughlin as quiz master. The club has not held a quiz night for some time so I encourage you to book a table with 10 of your smartest friends as Wayne is sure to find some challenging questions!

Fundraising for the 50th National is well underway so any donations of money or goods for a raffle would be greatly appreciated. The cost to hold an event of this size is huge. I wish to advise all members that the firing of the starting pistol on training days will cease due to an insurance issue but we are working hard to have this resolved.

John J De Lucia
President

Secretarial Report

It has been several months since the last Shepherd News, unfortunately Kiara Stacey resigned from committee due to personal issues, one being the planning for her upcoming wedding. I am certain that All members wish her the best for the future. It is pleasing to advise that Donna Vigor has offered to take on the role of Shepherd News editor, the committee thank Donna for taking on the role and wish her every success.

The Club has had a steady influx of new members and we welcome them all to the Club and trust that their training goals are reached.

To all those members who ventured interstate recently to compete at conformation shows in Sydney and Melbourne (National), the committee would like to congratulate everyone on your success. Many high placings and class wins were gained by the SA contingent. Well done.

The Dogs SA Winter International was held on Sunday June 4th with our breed being a featured breed with a Specialty judge from India Mr M Vaid officiating, again the weather was good.

The June long weekend was the Club's Championship shows, judged by Mr M Bradley (NZ) and Mr G Green (Vic). The weather was very kind to exhibitors and judges, congratulations to all exhibitors.

The Obedience fraternity of the Club has also had some success at recent trials. Mr ZBIERSKI gaining a score of 194 Excellent at Club's May trial and Amelia McArdle with a score of 94 in CCD. Congratulations to both and keep up the good work.

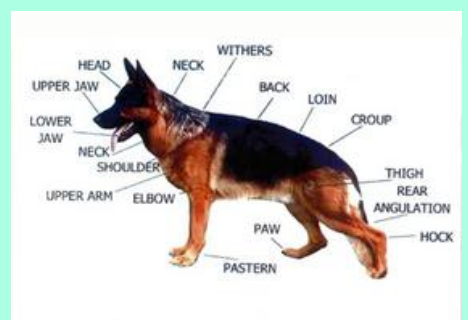

The exterior of the Clubrooms has been painted by Mr C Van Groen a club member with the interior of the building to be painted over Christmas.

Planning for the National Show and Trial in 2024 is well under way, shortly invitations will be sent for donations for trophies and sashes. Quotes for tents, catering equipment and toilets have been sourced.

While it seems a long way away the time will pass very quickly.

The Judges and NBC meetings will be held in Adelaide this year on the weekend of August 19th and 20th which will mean that the Breed Survey scheduled for the 20th of August will be rescheduled.

Stephen J Collins
Hon. Secretary

GET THE FACTS ON PET NUTRITION

INGREDIENTS VS NUTRIENTS

Ingredients are the raw materials in a diet that are vehicles to deliver nutrients.

e.g. poultry meal, rice and fish oil

High quality ingredients are ones that are easily digested and absorbed by your pet.

Nutrients are absorbed and used by the body.

e.g. proteins, carbohydrates and fatty acids

Essential nutrients cannot be made by your pet's body and must be provided by their diet.

DID YOU KNOW? There are 40 essential nutrients that both cats and dogs need, all of which are provided by ROYAL CANIN® diets.

WHICH NUTRIENTS DO WHAT?

- Carbohydrates | A vital source of energy and a rich source of fibre to support gut health and nourish the good bacteria.
- Proteins | Essential to support the health of muscles, skin and coat.
- Lipids | An excellent source of energy and critical to the health of the skin and coat.
- Vitamins | Vital for many bodily functions, vitamins aid everything from your pet's vision to how well their blood clots.
- Minerals | Necessary for normal muscle and nerve function.
- Other nutrients | There are plenty of other nutrients involved in every ROYAL CANIN® diet used to support specific needs.

EVERY KERNEL OF CORN IS FULL OF NUTRITION

Corn Meal | Every kernel of corn is rich in beneficial nutrients including proteins, fibre and fatty acids.

Corn Gluten | Corn Gluten is the protein-rich component of the kernel, providing a concentrated source of antioxidants.

Corn Starch | A carbohydrate rich energy source that cats and dogs can digest.

DID YOU KNOW?

When corn is ground into a meal, it is easily digested and absorbed by your pet.

GRAINS ARE HIGHLY NUTRITIOUS

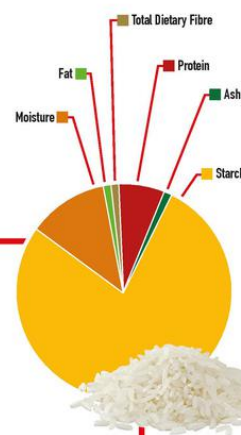

Wheat | Rich source of minerals including magnesium and iron, wheat also provides plenty of complex carbohydrates and fibre.

Wheat Gluten | The protein rich fraction of wheat, rich in essential amino acids.

Rice | An excellent source of energy for your pet, rice is the easiest carbohydrate to digest making it useful to support gastrointestinal health.

DID YOU KNOW?

Grains are an excellent source of amino acids, vitamins, minerals, carbohydrates, fibre and fatty acids that are essential for the health of cats and dogs. Carbohydrate allergies are very rare for both cats and dogs. The most commonly reported food allergens in cats and dogs are proteins such as beef, dairy, chicken and fish.

THE BENEFITS OF ANTIOXIDANTS

Ensures your pet's food remains nutritious by stopping the breakdown and spoilage of ingredients.

Our patented preservative complex helps prevent the growth of potentially dangerous moulds, yeasts and bacteria in your pet's food. Stops fats and oils in your pet's food from becoming rancid.

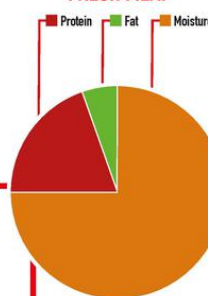

ROYAL CANIN® uses a combination of natural and approved artificial antioxidant preservatives at safe levels. The natural antioxidants we use include Vitamin C, Vitamin E, plus lutein and the amino acid taurine.

DID YOU KNOW?

ROYAL CANIN®'s antioxidant preservatives prevent food spoilage which is essential to ensuring your pet's health.

FRESH MEAT

DEHYDRATED MEAT MEAL AND BY-PRODUCTS ARE A GREAT SOURCE OF PROTEIN.

Dehydrated meat is simply fresh meat with water and fat removed. Properly processed, it is an excellent source of high quality, highly digestible protein for your pet.

All animal protein used by ROYAL CANIN® is declared suitable for human consumption, and are not only safe and nutritious but have a lower impact on the environment.

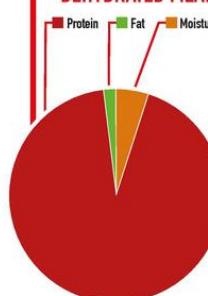

Proteins, vitamins and minerals that are essential to the health of your pet can be found in abundance in by-products such as hearts, livers and lungs.

ROYAL CANIN® uses high quality by-products (termed animal derivatives in our ingredients list).

DID YOU KNOW?

Fresh meat can contain up to 85% water and only 10-30% protein. When the water is removed in dehydrated meat, it provides a more concentrated source of protein at over 90%.

DEHYDRATED MEAT

WHEAT GLUTEN IS FULL OF PROTEIN

Wheat gluten is used in pet foods as an excellent source of essential amino acids. It complements those from animal based ingredients to help provide the best nutrition for your pet.

Gluten is a nutritionally valuable plant protein that is found in wheat, rye, buckwheat, barley and oats.

Wheat is the only cereal that contains gliadin – the gluten that causes celiac disease in humans.

Celiac disease has never been reported in cats and has only been reported in one breeding line of dogs.

DID YOU KNOW?

Wheat gluten is up to 80% protein of which approximately 99% is digested and used by your pet.

WHEAT GLUTEN

Perianal Fistula in Dogs

By Tammy Hunter, DVM; Ernest Ward, DVM

What is perianal fistula?

Perianal fistula, also known as anal furunculosis is a serious medical condition that most commonly affects German Shepherd dogs, but may also occur in other purebred or mixed breed dogs.

Perianal refers to the area immediately surrounding the anus or termination of the digestive tract. A fistula is an abnormal connection or tunnel that forms between two tissues, organs, or vessels that normally do not connect. In affected dogs, the condition is usually associated with an infection in the perianal region, and there are usually one or more draining tracts present.

What are the clinical signs of anal furunculosis?

In its early stages of development, there may be few clinical signs and the condition may go unnoticed. Some cases are discovered during a routine physical examination or when the dog is being bathed or groomed.

"In its early stages of development, there may be few clinical signs and the condition may go unnoticed."

As the disease progresses, the affected dog will usually strain during defecation, and there will be blood in the feces. A decreased appetite (anorexia) is common in dogs with perianal fistulas. Usually, the dog will lick excessively at its tail and rectal regions. Some dogs will be reluctant to sit, some may not wag their tail normally, and some may become aggressive if the tail or hindquarters are touched. Behavior changes are common. Some dogs will become withdrawn or act depressed, and others may appear agitated or even aggressive. If your dog demonstrates any of these signs, contact your veterinarian.

What tissues are affected by perianal fistulas?

Perianal fistulas are characterized by chronic, purulent (pus producing), smelly, ulcerating, sinus tracts (tunnels) in the anal region and surrounding skin. The condition could be compared with a carbuncle - a many headed abscess. This is why some veterinarians prefer use of the term furunculosis - a skin condition characterized by the development of recurring boils.

What causes perianal fistulas to form?

The cause is not fully understood although impaction or infection of the anal sacs (anal glands) and adjacent sinuses and crypts has been suggested. Poor air circulation around the anal region has long been proposed as a major contributory factor.

"More recent studies indicate that the condition is more likely caused by an autoimmune disease." More recent studies indicate that the condition is more likely caused by an autoimmune disease. There also appears to be a genetic component to the condition, since some families of German Shepherd dogs appear particularly prone. One study indicates that approximately 80% of cases occur in German Shepherds.

Is there any sex or age predisposition?

Yes. Perianal fistulas are more common in intact males and occur primarily in middle-aged dogs.
